QUICK QUIZ SCORES

0-6 Points

It doesn't sound like you are quite ready to work on your own just yet. Perhaps you can speak to a business adviser or a mentor/coach to review the areas where you need to gain additional support or experience in developing skills to give you the confidence to start up in the near future.

8-14 Points

You seem to feel you are lacking some of the qualities, attitudes or support to enable you to feel ready to start up in business. Don't get discouraged though! With some work or skills development you could still start up a successful business. A business mentor or coach could also be a source of inspiration!

16-20 Points

You are capable of making a business succeed and you seem to feel ready to start up. You might still want to speak to a few people to look over any areas you feel you need more support or help in before you make the final move of working for yourself.

22-30 Points

You sound like you've got the basic attitudes and characteristics required for successful business start-up. Remember it's still ok to ask for help in those areas you want to develop further either in business or personally - you could try and find a mentor.
